

American Academy of Crisis Counseling "Faith-based Initiative Certification Training"

AMERICAN ACADEMY OF CRISIS COUNSELING:

Provides faith-based crisis counseling training for religious, charitable, Christian education, philanthropic and benevolent purposes, with biblically based counseling resources for caregivers in crisis intervention. AAOCC keys in on the need and directly addresses practical issues about Christian counseling. Never before have counselors been able to practically address issues upon the completion of a program. When you complete the first level of the American Academy of Crisis Counseling courses you will be thoroughly equipped and well-furnished with adequate materials to work effectively in personal or group ministry and Christian counseling. Above all, you will be enhanced in crisis situations, crisis prevention and crisis management. This certification program is filling a foundational step that has been left out in Christian counseling.

The core curriculum for the American Academy of Crisis Counseling (first level) is based on 16 clock hours which will be conducted in two eight hour days. The first level comes with handouts and three crisis books.
